Partnership with SIMTech in OMNI Programme

ELITC is pleased to announce its partnership with Singapore Institute of Manufacturing Technology (SIMTech) to promote the OMNI Programme, initiated by A* STAR.

The OMNI Programme trains Professionals, Managers, Executive, Engineers and senior staff to be productivity champions to improve productivity and achieve operational excellence. It is a “Learn-Practice-Implement” training model, consisting of classroom training and on-site project mentoring sessions. The classroom training sessions focus on transfer of knowledge in operations management and use of OmniMethodology™, while the on-site project mentoring sessions involve operations improvement areas, generation of suitable productivity initiative, and development of implementation plans. The on-site project mentoring sessions are conducted in the company (supervised by SIMTech’s mentors).

This programme, jointly organised by Singapore Workforce Development Agency (WDA) and SIMTech, was launched by Mr Lee Yi Shyan, Senior Minister of State, Ministry of Trade and Industry and Ministry of National Development on 3 August 2010. To date, the programme has successfully completed 26 batches, training 336 participants from 136 companies.

Through the OMNI Programme, participating companies have benefited from productivity improvement, ranging from 20% to 200%.
